

Review for Tracery Professional Builders

Mark Macdonald bid on the remodel of our house. He was highly recommended by our architect. Before we met to discuss the project in preparation for the bid, he and the architect met to discuss some modifications to reduce the time and cost. He and his team always kept the schedule and all members were committed to high quality work. Further, Mark always showed the utmost respect for his team. He also had a high expectation of a neat job site. He relayed to us that a neat and clean job site reflected similar work, especially when inspectors would come.

We always felt like we were the only project he was working on. They came every day and the whole crew worked very hard when they were there. Mark made sure the neighbors were comfortable with any disruptions. Mark treated our house remodel like he would treat his own. He understands that quality craftsmanship lasts for decades, and wouldn't allow even a small mistake to remain when it's easy enough to fix in the short term.

We are most impressed with his support. It's been 3 years since the work has been done and we moved in, yet he will come and answer any questions and consult if we need his help. I get the sense he takes so much pride in his work, he enjoys being in the houses he works on.
